REGISTRATION PROCEDURES

- 1) Registration for summer courses begins March 22 at noon.
- 2) Only register for NR 220 or NR 221.
- 3) Registration for either course occurs through RamWeb; Make sure you choose the Summer Session as RamWeb may default to Fall semester.

NR 220/NR 221 COSTS

The tuition structure for NR 220 and NR 221 follow the structure for CSU summer courses (see <https://financialaid.colostate.edu/>). Tuition and fee costs can be different for each student (e.g., based on resident vs non-resident status, how many credits a student enrolls for summer, etc.). However, students enrolled in NR 220 (taught at the Mountain Campus) have an additional housing and dining charge ($1220) assessed to their student account by CSU Housing and Dining. Students enrolled in NR 221 (online only) do not have to pay a housing and dining charge. Students should consult with their academic advisor and financial aid office about which course/section is best for you.

Please note:

To be eligible for financial aid during the summer, students need to enroll in at least 6 credits. Some students may be seeking additional credits to reach this amount. Other classes are being planned to be offered at the Mountain Campus later in the summer.

- 1) FW 111 (Basic Outdoor Skills in FWCB) will be offered as a 1-credit class by Dr. Paul Doherty (paul.doherty@colostate.edu). This class will meet in a hybrid format, both online and at the Mountain Campus (MC) July 11-12. This is the weekend between the first and second 4-week summer sessions. Contact Paul for details.
- 2) F 230 (Forestry Field Measurements) will be offered June 12 - 24 at the Mountain Campus; contact Dr. Wade Tinkham (wade.tinkham@colostate.edu) about F 230.
- 3) HIST 355, E 403, and PHIL 345 will be offered at the Mountain Campus this summer. Contact Dr. Ken Shockley (kennethshockley@gmail.com) for more information.
- 4) Other for-credit options are available through the Summer Session and CSU-online catalogs. Consult with your advisor for advice.

Please see the Frequently Asked Questions (FAQ) on the WCNR Mountain Campus website for other information about the Mountain Campus (<https://warnercnr.colostate.edu/csu-mountain-campus/>). If you cannot find the answer to your question, contact Paul Doherty (below).
